

Site Manager

The Opportunity

To join a dynamic and established civil engineering and building contractor

As a Site Manager at Alpha Construction Ltd, you will:

- Be part of a professional and inclusive and friendly team within a successful and sustainable business
- Work on a variety of interesting projects and in diverse sectors of civil engineering and construction utilising your technical and operational skills and experience.
- Utilise your proven person management and communication skills to effectively manage the site and deliver safely, our high-quality projects for our blue-chip clients
- Build on your existing knowledge and experience with the training and development opportunities provided.

The Position Attracts:

- A competitive salary with company vehicle or allowance
- A generous Holiday allowance, contributory pension, and life assurance scheme bi annual bonus and private healthcare
- Potential for progression within the business

The role is site based and will involve lodging away from home during the week (lodging allowance paid) previous experience of T & D, Battery Storage, anaerobic digestion, and renewable energy would be an advantage but not essential for the right person.

Main Purpose of Job

Responsible for all aspects of production on site. Ensuring that the contract is carried out in accordance with the company Health, Safety, Environmental and Quality Policies and Procedures. To deliver the project within the tendered cost and programme duration.

Salary - £50-60K